Where are the Georgia "Crackers" if they don't solve this strike nut?

The university of Vermont bags $100,000 from the Rockefeller fund. A large sum specimen.

It is about established that $23 was the basis for the recent murder in Burlington. Small money at the root of a real evil.

Every man from Montpelier yesterday looked like a walking quarantine; he was afflicted with another "Tag day," that's all.

President Taft, having drawn a barrel of sauerkraut on a gift ticket at a San-dusky, O., fair, surely stands well with the Germans.

It would seem that about every other person in Rutland is in litigation over something. Moreover, they are staying in it as if they enjoyed it.

The Montpelier merchant who advertises that "hot weather is due to burst upon us most any day now," deserves a place in the weather bureau or as a compiler of an almanac.

Rutland, too, has found that a concrete pavement will not stand the traffic of its main streets. Barre discovered the same thing some years ago, and it is doubtful if the asphalt substitute in Rutland would do in Barre, either.

Added to its distinction of being one of the shortest railroads in the country, the Barre railroad now takes on another distinction in having one of the youngest presidents. But if Daniel R. Sortwell is a chip of the old block, meaning either the late Daniel R. or the present Alvin F., he will do in spite of his age.

The Rutland Herald should have a sizeable graveyard, for it enters on the average of three anonymous communications a week. "Unwonted, unknown and unused." Some time people will have the light break in upon them that they are wasting their time to write letters without having the courage to let the editor know who they are from.

We have noted three minor accidents in Vermont recently, due to reckless or inexperienced use of the automobile. First be sure you know how to run a machine and then run it reasonably. By so doing we can avoid most of these accidents. Without wishing to stir up needless alarm, The Times would like to state that the time to avoid accidents of a serious nature is before they happen, which ought to be a self-evident fact.

Governor Prouty isn't afraid to speak of the good qualities of the state, whose official head he is, for we note that he tells Boston reporters that during the past five years manufactures in Vermont "have increased faster in proportion to the percentage of inhabitants than in any other New England state." We are not aware what Governor Prouty's authority for the statement is, but we presume that he must be well informed on the matter, else he wouldn't stand being quoted on the subject.

MORE CHAMPLAIN LITERATURE.

Among the contributions to Lake Champlain literature with particular reference to the discovery of this pretty body of water there is none more handsome than the pamphlet prepared by the education department of the state of New York. The pamphlet is of thirty-two pages of heavy, coated paper, and it contains many illustrations of historic sections and ruins along the New York shore of the lake. In fact, the entire work deals almost exclusively with New York's peculiar interest in the coming celebration, to the partial exclusion of Vermont; but this perhaps is not to be wondered at or criticized, since the same opportunity is left to Vermont to give its own historical incidents in connection with Champlain. Be that as it may, one must agree that the New York state education department has prepared a fitting souvenir of the bicentenary, something which will be well worth preserving. It embraces the legislation at the inception of the Champlain bicentenary idea in New York, a history of the region, its geology, several appropriate poems, a chronology of events and some other interesting matter, among which is a list of literary contributions which may be of value to people to read. The illustrations add materially to the value of the pamphlet.

Thus does the Champlain bicentenary go ahead under the impetus of vigorous press agents in both New York and Vermont; and the celebration this coming summer ought to be so well advertised that the lake shore cities and towns will be fairly swamped with visiting celebrators.

CURRENT COMMENT

Entitled to Respect.

While we are sorry for any editor who gets into trouble with the courts, the fine of $200 imposed upon Editor Hildreth of the Newport Express and Standard for his severe criticism of a supreme court decision will have a salutary effect all over the state. We pride ourselves too much upon the privilege of free speech and overstep the bounds of propriety too often in attacks upon state and local officers and even against the leaders in all our national affairs. Those in authority are entitled to respect even if we do not agree with their views and opinions.—St. Johnsbury Caledonian.

Tuberculosis in Vermont.

The average number of deaths in Windham county a year from consumption for each 10,000 of population for the five years' period, 1903-7, was 11.7 according to figures compiled by the state board of health. Four other counties in the state had better records than this: Windsor, 11.2; Lamoille, 10.4; Addison, 9.8; Essex, 9.4. Nine counties showed a higher mortality than these: Grand Isle, 12.1; Orleans, 12.2; Orange, 13.1; Caledonia, 13.3; Bennington, 13.7; Franklin, 13.7; Rutland, 14.1; Chittenden, 16.5; Washington, 17.2. Washington county's unfavorable record is due no doubt to its extensive granite industry which is frightfully wearing on lung. The condition's cause is in second place may be accounted for perhaps by the fact that it contains Burlington, the largest city of the state. The record of this county is comparatively a good one, but in a matter of this kind we cannot afford to rest upon a comparative showing. Our duty will not be fulfilled until everything possible has been done to reduce the mortality from the white plague to a minimum.—Burlington Reformer.

JINGLES AND JESTS

Pep's Answer.

Tommy—Pop, a man is a bachelor until he gets married, isn't he?
Tommy's Pop—Yes, my son.
Tommy—And what does he call him?
Tommy's Pop—Afterward.

Tommy's Pop—I'd hate to tell you, my son.—Philadelphia Record.

A Discontented Cuckoo.

"I'm terribly cramped in this narrow nest."
A cuckoo was heard to say.
"I need more space to develop my chest. And practice wing-drill each day.""O stepmother, do let me go and seek a suitable spacious home!"
But the kind little stepmother shook her head."You are far too young to roam!"
Still the wayward urchin pushed and pecked.His nest-fellows brown and small,
Till, by methods direct and indirect,
He cleared the nest of them all.Then the father-bird, losing all patience, cried:
"Now bundle, my fine young friend! You need more scope—the world is wide—
Let's see how your projects end!"Alas! and alas! for the dreams of youth!
A snake was lying in wait!
And a crower lot than before, in south,
Is now that cuckoo's fate!
—London Mail.

RANDOLPH

Teachers Engaged for Another Year.
Principal Ham Re-elected.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ketchum were in Gayville the first of the week to visit their son, Walter Ketchum.

The funeral of Mrs. S. S. Clark was held from her late home in A. M. Hubbard's house, the Rev. J. W. Hamilton officiating, and the remains accompanied by her daughter, Miss Clark, Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Landell, were taken to Ludlow for interment. Mrs. Clark was 70 years of age and widow of the late James Clark of Ludlow, but had been a resident of town since 1895.

The board of school directors announce the following teachers elected for another year to serve in the high and graded schools: principal, E. G. Ham, Miss Ethel Parks and Miss Olive Mont-tom, assistants, in the high school, Miss Jennie Stewart, grammar grade; Miss Jennie Goldrey, third intermediate; Miss Elizabeth Holden, second intermediate; Miss Bertha Munney, first intermediate; Miss Emma Moses, first primary; Miss Eleanor Farrand, second primary; Miss Adeline Gray, first primary; Miss Almine Barber, assistant; Mrs. Ella K. Johnson, drawing. On account of the school having been placed on the approved list of the New England certificate board and the consequent increased requirements of study, it has been decided to give Mr. Ham another assistant, who will probably be a male teacher, and an arrangement will be made for another class room on the first floor.

R. B. Demeritt of Waterbury and H. W. Vail have been busy this week distributing seed corn to the farmers, and have already 235 acres for the coming season, with a prospect of more before the planting season is over.

Dr. J. H. Kinsley, the efficient assistant in Dr. Blanchard's office, will leave for his home in North Watpole to take charge of his father's business while he is absent for a time, after which he will open an office for himself in Bellows Falls.

Rev. W. T. Sparhawk is to deliver an address on "The Message of Modern Evangelism" before the Washington county conference in Montpelier June 1, and he also delivered the sermon before the G. A. R. at the union service in Cabot last Sunday.

One hundred and fourteen volumes of magazines and twenty-four valuable books from the library of the late Rev. Elbridge Gerry have been presented to the Kimball public library by the authorities of Rutland church.

F. H. Ketchum has purchased the Almon Moore farm of 30 acres for $1,000. The board of water commissioners, elected at the last village meeting, organized on Friday and elected H. W. McIntyre as chairman and secretary. E. L. Chaffin was requested superintendent with the same salary and duties as when he took the office a few months ago.

Charles Blodgett has secured the government contract to carry the mail on

INSTANT RELIEF FROM DREAD CATARRH

Why don't you get rid of that nasty, humiliating disease catarrh? You can do it if you really want to. But you can't cure catarrh in a few days; that's an utter impossibility, because there is no remedy known that will kill the catarrh germs in that short time.

But you can cure catarrh if you will have a little patience and breathe in Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei) three or four times a day.

Hyomei cures catarrh by killing the germs and it kills the germs because it gets where the germs are.

Hyomei is a powerful antiseptic and germ killing air; it is made from the fluid extracted from the eucalyptus trees of Australia where catarrh is unknown.

It gives relief instantly, stops hacking in a few days and is guaranteed by The Red Cross Pharmacy to cure catarrh, asthma, croup and bronchitis or money back. A complete outfit, including inhaler, bottle, $1.00, and extra bottles of Hyomei, cost 50 cents.

"Hyomei certainly saved my life and I accord it the credit which it deserves and merits. There is nothing too strong for me to say regarding Hyomei."—Mrs. Ada Hopkins, 8 Center avenue, Coldwater, Mich., August 22, 1908.
